Heritage significance
The heritage assets of the building are significant in terms of architecture, being of a late Georgian design, built in the very early Victorian era.

The building's heritage is significant in terms of its maritime, industrial, and social history associations as the dwelling and offices of the South Shields Pilots from circa 1886 until the mid-nineteen seventies.

Impact
The impact of the work will be to repair, restore, maintain and conserve this part of the building through re-pointing with natural lime mortar throughout, and where necessary the restoration with lime based surface repair the string courses, heads and cills, colour-matching the original buff sandstone. The restoration of the front portico and door on a like-for-like basis will continue to complement the aesthetic of the portico of 83 Green's Place.

This repair work will preserve and enhance the significance of the building as a heritage asset. Our aim is to preserve and enhance the heritage asset so that it can continue to make an important contribution to the environment, economy, quality of life and lifelong learning for this and future generations.
